Independence

Men die upon the battlefield to keep independence in the living world. Brave men framed the Declaration of Independence. For nearly a century and a half America has, on the Fourth of July, saluted the Flag of Liberty. And YET there are men and women, good American citizens, who do not assert their priceless independence by saving money, by thrift, by thinking of the future. Labor is done in countless hours, all over this smiling land, that bears no fruit. in money put aside for the worker. Independence means thought and freedom of action in a wonderful free and happy land. In this beloved city of ours it means working with a purpose. A bank is always a friend. When you think of Independence, ask yourself just how independent of others you are today. Then, in sober thought, resolve to be more independent and to have the days ahead count for something by saving your money and making the bank, your bank in your own home town, your pariner in the game of life.
